PRAISE FOR ANDREW BARD SCHMOOKLER'S POWERFUL NEW STUDY OF THE CAUSES AND CURES OF HUMAN DESTRUCTIVENESS.

"Out of Weakness is a worthy successor to the author's brilliant Parable of the Tribes. ... Schmookler is one of the great intellectual integrators of the twentieth century. ... His new book explains clearly and with great power how human beings psychologically become aggressive and violent as individuals and as groups. But he also shows how therapeutic insights light the way to new, peaceful levels of human relationship." —Joseph V. Montville, Research Director, Center for the Study of Foreign Affairs

"A wide-ranging and deeply thoughtful meditation on the psychological sources of the danger to humanity created by the advent of weapons of mass destruction. It draws on a vast range of sources including psychology, anthropology, literature, philosophy and religion, and is expressed with eloquence and grace." —Dr. Jerome Frank,
Professor Emeritus of Psychiatry,
Johns Hopkins Medical School, author of Sanity and Statistics

"A remarkably thorough analysis of the proposition that it is our beliefs, conscious and unconscious, which have made war inevitable—and that a change in those assumptions (including the unconscious ones) can free us from the scourge. ... This is a very hopeful book about a subject that leads many to despair. ... I believe it will be a most useful contribution to the dialogue about our national security dilemma." —Willis Hartman, President, Institute of Noetic Sciences, author of An Incomplete Guide to the Future

"In The Parable of the Tribes, Andrew Bard Schmookler gave us a clear-eyed and yet hopeful vision of the meaning of human history. Now, in Out of Weakness, he gives us a clear-eyed and yet hopeful vision of the depths of the human soul. Out of Weakness offers all of us, hawks and doves and in-betweens, a psychotherapeutic journey toward that spiritual place where we may come to peace with self, others, world." —Mark Satin, editor, New Options

ANDREW BARD SCHMOOKLER is Senior Policy Advisor to Search for a Common Ground, Washington, D.C., and a Research Associate of the Center for Psychological Studies in the Nuclear Age, Harvard University.
